Kodiak is a leadership training system based on the idea that a leader should serve those they lead to achieve goals. Your week at camp will be spent participating in a myriad of high adventure activities of your groups choosing; these high adventure activities integrate well with the leadership training portion of Kodiak. You'll learn through outdoor experiences using nature's examples of effective leadership.

All Kodiak registrations are requested by the Early Bird deadline, May 6th. Final fees are not due at this point, except for those Venturers interested in receiving the Early Bird discount.

As with all high adventure activities, participants should be prepared for an appropriate level of activity. It is suggested that Venturers and Advisors interested in attending Kodiak prepare themselves physically prior to camp. Because of the unique nature of planning for this event we can't say what you should prepare for specifically. A moderate level of outdoor proficiency including: paddle craft, camping, hiking, and mountain biking is suggested. Participants should prepare to be flexible so everyone is included.

Crew registration is encouraged but individuals are welcome!
